CEREMONIES WERE SIMPLE

Body of Father of American Navy Landed at Annapolis.

Rear Admiral Sigsbee's Mission Completed in Most Satisfactory Manner.

Annapolis, Md., July 24.—The John Paul Jones expedition, commanded by Rear Admiral Sigsbee, completed its mission with the landing of the body of the distinguished dead this morning. The eight ships of the squadron, four cruisers and four battleships, rested all day Sunday in the anchorage off the naval academy, lying in double column, with the cruisers, headed by the Brooklyn, nearest the city. The day was without ceremony with the exception of the exchange of calls between admirals and the superintendent of the naval academy and Admirals Sigsbee and Davis and Captain Gervais of the French cruiser Jurien de la Gravere. On the half deck of the Brooklyn, in a spacious compartment at the entrance to the cabin of Admiral Sigsbee, reposed the remains of John Paul Jones, contained in a casket of lead, enclosed in another of wood of handsome design, and draped with the colors. Constant guard was kept by an armed Jackie. Admiral Sigsbee regards his mission as eminently successful and satisfactory. His squadron has steamed nearly 7,000 miles without delay on account of accident or mishap to machinery. In detailing a brief account of his trip Admiral Sigsbee said: "Our reception abroad was a magnificent tribute. It was most generous and hearty in the honors paid, not only to the distinguished dead, but to the navy of the United States."

At 8 o'clock this morning Rear Admiral Sigsbee saluted Rear Admiral Sands with thirteen guns, and the salute was returned from the shore batteries. A salute to the squadron from the French cruiser was then given and returned. With these formalities over the active transfer of the body was begun. The personnel of the fleet was put ashore in small boats to form an imposing guard of honor when the body was landed. Its transfer to the shore was made on the naval tug Standish, and the landing made on a float draped and moored to the wharf. It was there placed in a hearse and transferred to the vault in the academy grounds. The only ceremony was the reading of Psalms by Chaplain H. H. Clark of the academy.

Admiral Sigsbee will give a dinner this evening aboard the Brooklyn, at which the French captain Gervais will be the guest of honor. The captains of the cruisers and their aides and Admiral Sands will be guests. The fleet of battleships left their anchorage today and dropped down the bay. Admiral Sigsbee will proceed with his fleet to Tompkinsville Tuesday. His ships will be there laid up for repairs. The French cruiser will depart Tuesday for Martinique.

BARN BURNS NEAR MOSCOW

Building and Contents on James Wright's Place a Total Loss.

A large barn on the farm of James Wright, situated a short distance east of Moscow, caught fire Sunday morning and burned to the ground. The fire was discovered about 10 o'clock, but it soon gained such headway that it was impossible to extinguish it. We understand that the family was away at the time. A number of horses which were in the barn at the time were saved by neighbors, but the remainder of the contents, including hay, grain, implements, buggies and harness, were consumed. The origin of the fire is unknown.

THING OF PAST

Threshing Time is Here But There is No More Big Dinners.

The threshing season is now on in Rush county and from reports from different localities it seems that another of the cherished institutions of the people is about to be swatted out of existence by the rude, iron-clad and very muscular hand of time. The old fashioned threshing dinner is going to follow the wake of the husking bee, the barn raising, the quilting bee, apple paring bee and several other kinds of bees that were a part and parcel of the setting up and development of the great Hoosier commonwealth. By the time the last old settler has been taken from us there will not be remaining a single festive occasion that was the delight of our grandfathers and grandmothers to unite us with the dim and distant past.

The time has arrived when the threshermen, instead of putting their feet under a table that groans with its load of hot viands, must hunt the shady side of a load of wheat and take pot luck with a bucket of cold grub and wash it down with a bottle of cold coffee just as the boys do who work on the section or the dump.

BAD RUNAWAY ON SATURDAY

Joe Clark's Horse Scares at Auto and Tears Up Buggy.

A black mare, owned by Joe Clark, son of C. G. Clark, proprietor of the Rush County Mills, while standing hitched, about 7 o'clock Saturday evening to a tree in front of the Clark residence, corner of Sexton and Fifth streets, became frightened at J. T. Arbuckle's Oldsmobile, broke loose and ran away, demolishing the buggy.

The animal was standing with its head to the south when the automobile approached from the north. In the automobile were seated Mr. and Mrs. Arbuckle.

The animal heard the machine coming, but seemingly paid no attention to it. As the auto became abreast of the horse, she backed slightly, trembled and then leaped forward, breaking the hitch rein. She ran across Mr. Clark's yard striking the buggy, a fine one, against a tree and upsetting it. The vehicle was then dragged west on Fifth street at breakneck speed, and south through the first alley on the left side of the street. The horse smashed the buggy against Patrick Moran's barn, broke loose and came east up another alley to Sexton street, where it turned south being caught by Leonard Clark, near the C. H. & D. crossing. The horse was uninjured, but the harness was broken in several places. The buggy was a new one and was valued at $175. There was no one in the rig at the time. It is understood that Mr. Clark will sue Mr. Arbuckle as a result of the accident.

Mrs. J. T. Black, who is very sick at her home, east of town, is no better.

Taylor Wagner, of Falmouth, Ky., is visiting his uncle, William Hardin, of South Pearl street.

The pictorial presentation of "Hiawatha," by the Ertz-Bowden company will be given free of charge on Saturday night, August 12th, the opening night of the Chautauqua.

The ball game which was to have been played yesterday between the Rushville Reserves and the Falmouth team, was called off on account of rain.

Lawrence Allen arrived today from Chicago and joined his wife, who is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Churchill. Mr. Allen will open a grocery store in this city in the near future.

"Ah, Mr. Smith, I hear you have got into your new home. Are you settled yet?" "All except the rent."

THE STREAK IS BROKEN

Connersville Administrators a Shut Out Defeat to Rushville.

McCord Was Wild and Locals Could Not Hit Goar—Saturday's Game.

"We have met the enemy and we are their'n."

Such was the report received at headquarters from Commander Geraghty, Captain Wagner and Lieutenant McCord, of the Rushville fleet of ball tossers, which did battle at Connerville Sunday afternoon.

The report sent a chill to the bone in each and every Rushvillian, for high hopes had been pinned to the fleet when it sailed away. The hard part of it was that the marksmanship of the Rushville batsmen was decidedly bad. Only once did the locals succeed in getting a good shot at gunner Goar's delivery and that shot had no effect upon the result of the contest. Guaner McCord for the locals was a trifle wild and though his shooting was effective at times, he was unable to withstand the charge of his opponents, and consequently allowed the Connervilleans to bag the game in the fourth inning.

McCord is certainly an unlucky pitcher. He was not at his best yesterday. He was very wild and it was virtually this wildness that lost the game. Connerville won the game in exactly the same manner that Greensburg did Sunday two weeks ago. Rushville had her usual bad inning and it was in this inning that the game was lost.

The locals have no excuses to make. McCord announced that he was in fine feather before the game, but he proved to be mistaken. The best team won. The loss of the game cannot be attributed to the work of umpire Quinn, although fast was uninteresting. Connerville, however, suffered as much from these mistakes as did Rushville. We believe that Quinn was honest in his decisions and that he tried to be fair. Some of his decisions counted heavily against Rushville, but Manager Geraghty would permit no rag-chewing on the part of the locals. Connerville kicked at several decisions.

There were two instances of dirty ball playing on the part of Connerville. Twice did Becker try to block the ball, once by throwing up his hand while running to first base from the plate, in order to block a ball thrown by Hiatt to Wagner, after the former had muffed Becker's third strike, and again by kicking the ball after it dropped from Joe Herold's mitt at third when it was thrown by Hiatt in order to catch Becker napping.

Goar was in fine form and held the locals to one hit and it was of the scratch variety. Hiatt sent a hot one to Florea in the fifth inning which the latter did not quite reach. Dugan and Wagner came very near getting hits, but Goar and Florea succeeded in partially stopping these hot ones.

The locals did not get a man past second base, and only once did they get a man on second. This was in the seventh inning, and Rushville could have scored at that time had they played the game. Carter was first up and he fanned, Dugan, sent a long fly to Hassett which the latter dropped. Wagner knocked a terrific grounder to Florea which the latter fumbled.

Rushville then had men on first and second respectively. "Johnson" came to bat, and instead of bunting down the first base line, drove a hot one to Gear, who threw the ball to Pritchett, and the latter throwing it to Thomas, retired the side on a double play.

The local team wore its new uniforms for the first time and showed up well. The Rushville players had a hard time getting reconciled to the slippery grounds and in the first three innings made three errors, Bush slipping and fumbling the ball, Carter fumbling a grounder and McCord throwing wild to first base. Goar was a trifle wild during the early part of the game, but his pitching improved with each ball thrown.

In the fourth McCord started the fireworks. Becker was first up and he was presented with a base on balls, Goar grounded out, Carter to Wagner. After McCord had two balls on Bosler, the next man up, he put one squarely over the plate. Umpire Quinn called it a ball. The next one came a little wild. It struck Bosler and then hit bat, just as he swung at it. The man should have been out, but Umpire Quinn called it a foul ball. McCord spotted another over and Bosler clouted it to center field for two bases, scoring Becker. Pritchett, who was next up, singled to right field, advanced to second on the thrown in, stole third and on Lindsay's out. Thomas grounded out to McCord and the session was over.

In the sixth inning Bosler secured another base hit in almost the same locality as the other, but he died on second as Pritchett was an easy out.

About four hundred fans accompanied the local team on the special train. Rain during the forenoon prevented many more from going.

BURGLARS IN WILSON HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wilson Lose Some Articles of Value Friday Night.

Burglars entered the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wilson Saturday night, but was frightened and ran away before he succeeded in making a haul.

Thursday night Mr. Wilson noticed a fellow hanging about the house. He went to the store, secured his revolver and returned home, but the bird had flown.

Saturday night, Mrs. Wilson came downtown, leaving the front door of the house open. She returned about eight o'clock in company with her husband and entered the house. Mr. Wilson returned to the livery stable with the buggy.

When Mrs. Wilson entered the house the fellow fell over two or three chairs in getting out. The dining room had been ransacked, several articles of value having been set upon the floor.

Other articles were found on the lawn, where they had been dropped by the thief in his flight. Mr. Wilson thinks possibly he secured about one or two dollars worth of china and silverware.

Burglars also tried to enter the homes of Robert Kelley on the same night. On Saturday night they tried to enter Alfred Donegan's home. All these houses are within a stone's throw of each other.

DEPOSITORS ARE ANGRY

It is Found That Depositors' Accounts Do Not Agree With Books.

Balances Exhibited to Pass Books Turn to Debits on the Bank's Books.

Hagerstown, Ind., July 24.—Scarcely less sensational than the suicide of John Bowman come the developments following the examination of the bank's books. Receiver Speckenhauer has thrown open the doors of the bank and announces that he is ready to receive the pass-books of depositors for the purpose of comparing them with the books as kept in the bank.

The result in most cases is amazing. Depositors who supposed, according to their pass-books, that they had good sized balances in the bank, are informed that the books show against them, and the evidence of the books will be taken in the absence of a conclusive showing by the depositor. In most cases it will be impossible for the depositors to offer conclusive proof that their own showing is right and the books of the bank wrong.

Every depositor will be put on oath and their statements reduced to writing, and in case false testimony is offered for the purpose of securing a larger sum from the bank than they are entitled to, the matter will be handed over to the grand jury. The situation is a most trying one for the 800 depositors, who feel that they know how their accounts stand and yet hesitate to make oath for fear there is a possibility of being wrong. The feeling of bitterness against Bowman and his criminally loose

A LOVE FEAST

Republican Editors Will Hear Much
Politics at Winona.

Indianapolis, July 24.—The meeting of the Republican editors at Winona Lake this week promises to become a "love feast" for the Republican leaders. Among the candidates who are going to attend are John C. Billheimer, candidate for auditor of state; John Dyer of Hammond, candidate for treasurer, and Fred Sims of Frankfort, candidate for secretary of state. There will be a dozen other candidates for places on the state ticket. Senator Hemenway is now en route home from Mackinac Island and will be one of the guests of honor. Senator Beveridge, however, will not be present as he will not return from northern Wisconsin for some time. Chairman Goodrich expects to attend. There is to be no set program for the meeting. "Just a good time" will be the general idea. Several members of the association arrived here this afternoon to take the train tomorrow at 11:30 for the lake.

The horrible automobile accident near here last Friday night in which a fourteen-year-old girl was burned to death and other persons severely injured has called the attention of many people to the fact that the new state law regulating the speed of autos is not being enforced. It is practically a dead letter and there has hardly been an effort to test it. The members of the recent legislature spent a lot of time discussing the automobile bills and finally passed one that was generally regarded as a remedy for the evils that are known to exist, but there is no record of where prosecutions have been had under it. Auto drivers are still using the public highways for race courses, endangering lives and property. One state official said today that if the law were enforced by local officials that the liability of accident would be greatly lessened, but he added that the law might as well be off the books as on unless there is some disposition shown to carry out its provisions. Hundreds of licenses have been issued at the secretary of state's office, showing that the sale and use of the machines has increased at a rapid pace, but as stated, there are but few instances wherein the new law has been enforced.

The attack on the governor created a sensation in the big congregation. There were a few "amens," but most of the auditors were so surprised that death-like stillness prevailed throughout the sermon. It was understood that Rev. Shaw expected to preach a sermon laudatory of the governor, hence the surprise over his remark was even greater than it would have been.

A COMPLETE MYSTERY

No Clue to the Perpetrators of Constantinople Horror.

Constantinople, July 24.—Three commissions are inquiring into the attempt on the life of the sultan Friday, but they have not yet been able to find the slightest clue either to the author or the origin of the outrage. The killed include Behar Bey, tutor to the sultan's sons. The majority of the victims were coachmen and twenty-seven hack coaches were blown to pieces and fifty-five horses were killed. Eyewitnesses describe the scene after the explosion as heartrending, with men and horses lying dying around. A hole two yards wide was made in the ground by the explosion of the bomb.

Komura Reaches Chicago.

Chicago, July 24.—Baron Komura, Japanese envoy to the Russian-Japanese peace conference, arrived in Chicago at 9 o'clock this morning en route to Washington.

TERSE TELEGRAMS

At Humble, Tex., over a million barrels of oil were consumed by fire.

Jean Jacques Henner, the distinguished painter, is dead at Paris.

Boycotters Show Consideration.

Shanghai, July 24.—In carrying out the boycott by the Chinese of American goods which was arranged for at a mass-meeting here July 20, an exception will be made in the case of American dealers who have not yet received supplies of new goods. They will be allowed to sell their existing stocks, but in the future contracts with them are forbidden by the leaders of the boycott movement. It is announced also that the Chinese pupils will be allowed to continue in attendance at American schools.

Japs Gain Important Point.

Tokyo, July 24.—A daring reconnaissance of a Japanese squadron was made in Possiet bay on July 14. Three days later the Japanese vessels occupied Russinpan, where there is a vast and splendid harbor. Some of the vessels ran right inside Possiet bay, which is of great strategical value.

Life Lost Its Charm.

Petersburg, Ind., July 24.—August Yeager, residing near Spurgeon, this country, after a quarrel with his sweetheart, went home and, placing a 32-caliber revolver to his head, sent a bullet between his eyes. Probing has been done but the bullet has not been located. There is little hope for the young man's recovery.

STRONG PULPIT TALK

Secretary of Anti-Cigarette League Denounces Governor Hanly.

Indianapolis, July 24.—The Rev. W. A. Shaw, pastor of the Trinity Congregational church and national secretary of the Anti-Cigarette League of America, from his pulpit last night referred to Governor Hanly as a coward and denounced him bitterly for alleged failure to enforce the drastic anti-cigarette law enacted by the recent legislature.

The fact that C. A. Baker, lobbyist for the tobacco trust, who fled after Representative Ananias Baker of Rochester accused him on the floor of the house with attempting to bribe him, has not been apprehended, brought down the wrath of Rev. Shaw. "Governor Hanly is a coward, and I don't care how soon he knows that I said it," declared Rev. Shaw. "Any man who will shirk responsibility devolving on him as an officer in the exalted position he occupies is not deserving of being called anything else. Why does Governor Hanly seek to enforce the saloon laws and permit the chief of police at Michigan City to hurl in his teeth the statement that he will make no attempt to enforce the anti-cigarette law in that city. The tobacco trust must feel flattered at the governor's policy of discrimination. The governor does not hesitate to safeguard the dilapidated, depicted so by enforcing rigidly the anti-saloon laws, but he forgets the men of tomorrow—our boys—and allows cigarette material to be sent broadcast throughout the state without making any attempt to suppress the vice. Has he inquired of the postmaster general as to the legality of the traffic through the mails? It is very evident that he has not or we would have heard of that good deed, as we have of his many other gracious acts which are being flaunted constantly before our eyes in the public press.

"Why does Governor Hanly allow this law to be trampled down until the supreme court passes on its constitutionality? Why has the arch enemy of boys, O. A. Baker, accused of seeking to corrupt our legislators, been permitted to go unpunished while the people are clamoring that the $5,000 set aside for his capture be spent for that purpose? Are there fears of shadows, dark and ominous, to certain men close to the governor who would be embarrassed should Baker be brought to account?"

Rev. Shaw declared that Governor Hanly's talk of reform will fall short till he attempts to enforce the anti-cigarette law, and that he will continue to fail in his duty till these matters are righted. "Can it be possible that the governor is only seeking in his great reform to strike back at the one great element which bitterly opposed him in the last campaign? He is certainly doing very little on any other feature of reform, and especially in the interest of the boys," he continued. This utterance it is supposed was inspired by the knowledge of the fight the liquor interests made on the governor.

The attack on the governor created a sensation in the big congregation.

There were a few "amens," but most of the auditors were so surprised that death-like stillness prevailed throughout the sermon. It was understood that Rev. Shaw expected to preach a sermon laudatory of the governor, hence the surprise over his remark was even greater than it would have been.

THE DEATH LIST SWELLS.

San Diego, Cal., July 24.—A careful compilation of casualties in the explosion on board the Bennington follows:

Buried in military cemetery at Fort Rosecrans yesterday, 47; dead now in morgue, 10, awaiting shipment to relatives; dead in fireroom of Bennington, still unrecovered, 2; total dead, 59. Injured at various hospitals, 50; missing, 16. Grand total, 105. Of the injured at hospitals, seven or eight are expected to die.

ON LOMA'S CREST

The Dead of the Bennington Are Laid to Rest.

San Diego, Cal., July 24.—They buried the Bennington's dead Sunday—forty-seven of them—in a common grave. On the crest of the promontory of Loma, high above the shimmering water of San Diego bay on the one side and within sound of the boisterous surf of the Pacific on the other, they were laid to rest in the peaceful little military burying ground. Without the crash of drum or the sound of brass, without pomp or parade, yet with simple impressiveness, all honor was paid the nation's dead.

Army and navy paid their last tributes, no less sincere than the simple grief of the representatives of peace, who made the long journey around or across the great bay. From Fort Rosecrans came the 115th company of coast heavy artillery; from the city of San Diego the naval reserves; from the Universal Brotherhood's home on Point Loma a company of khaki-clad representatives, and from the government ship Fortune a dozen of their sailors. But the most impressive body of mourners were the fifty-two men from the scattered Bennington. Beside these there were hundreds of civilians who, unthoughtful of the fatiguing journey from the city, brought their offerings of flowers to lay upon the graves.

Army and navy paid their last tributes, no less sincere than the simple grief of the representatives of peace, who made the long journey around or across the great bay. From Fort Rosecrans came the 115th company of coast heavy artillery; from the city of San Diego the naval reserves; from the Universal Brotherhood's home on Point Loma a company of khaki-clad representatives, and from the government ship Fortune a dozen of their sailors. But the most impressive body of mourners were the fifty-two men from the scattered Bennington. Beside these there were hundreds of civilians who, unthoughtful of the fatiguing journey from the city, brought their offerings of flowers to lay upon the graves.

San Diego was a city of mourning. Although the people of this little city have taken in the Bennington catastrophe an interest that was personal to all from the moment that it happened, they set apart the beautiful Sabbath day to pay last and loving tribute to the dead. Thousands filed through the morgues with arms filled with flowers, dropping the blossoms here and there upon some unfortunate flag-draped coffin. Other thousands gathered in the plaza, from whence the procession of coffin-laden wagons was to start.

Promptly at noon the long line of vehicles began the long journey around the bay to the burial place. There were no bands of music to stir the people with doleful melody—every thing was quiet and businesslike. The task was too big to be hampered by any usages of ordinary funerals. Forty-seven men were to be buried, and to bury them it was necessary to haul them ten miles up steep hills and along dusty roads. Every casket bore a beautifully executed wreath thoughtfully sent by the San Diego commercial bodies. The flags came from the nation in whose service they had died. Every one of the plain, black-stained caskets was draped with the national emblem, and the plain commercial utility of the dead-wagons was disguised under the folds of the national colors. From noon until 3 o'clock these dead-burdened wagons toiled toward the burial grounds, and not until almost half past four was the last casket placed in the rock-ribbed trench.

All the correspondents agree that the interview was of Emperor William's seeking, and the result is awaited with the greatest anxiety.

A curious story is published in Brussels in connection with King Leopold's appeal recently to the Belgian chamber to pass the bill providing for the fortification of Antwerp. The Petit Bleu asserts that a few weeks ago when a Franco-German war over the Moroccan difficulty seemed not improbable, Great Britain called Belgium's attention to the fact that Belgium was expected to become the chief battlefield. Thereupon a bill extending the fortifications of Antwerp was introduced, but it met with such opposition that King Leopold felt it necessary to intervene to secure its passage.

Telegrams from Berlin indicate that the meeting between the emperors is as great a surprise there as elsewhere, official circles protesting their utter ignorance regarding it.

Rev. C. O. Whitley returned Saturday after a pleasant visit in Kokomo.

Mrs. Whitley will visit in Richmond before her return.

A party of young people planned a moonlight picnic last Thursday evening, but owing to the inclemency of the weather, they met with Miss Ruby Bitner, where a pleasant evening was spent.

Prof. Edward Taylor, of Indianapolis, spent Sunday with Mr. Clark Gause and family.

Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Sipe and children spent Sunday with Mrs. Sipe's mother, Mrs. Jones, of Occident.

Clyde Pace and W. Kincaid, of Elwood, were the guests of Misses Naomi White and Winifred Hill Sunday.

Married Sunday afternoon, July 23d, by Squire Kennedy, of Gwynneville, Chas. Kennedy and Miss Mary those who try to take their own part. It has become a fashion by some to try to pocket everything they can get their eyes on in this part of the country, and some have been known to pocket some that they have not got their eyes on yet. He also thinks it wrong to fight public improvement and so do we as long as the thing is right. Go back, if you please, some four or five years and see who the floaters of our township elected for trustee, and see the improvements he has made, and see what it has cost our township, and now sit around like a howling wolf in the far West and cry about people fighting public improvements. Take, if you please, the oil well for an example. You would call that a public improvement! There you find the poor stockholder holding tight to his pocket book to keep some of the officers from getting it. They got his money by making him believe they were going to put down three or four oil wells when they have not got one finished, and now want his pocket book to keep their money in. Now, Adam, you had better see why they are fighting and who they are fighting and then go away back and sit down

Both Wounded and in Jail.

Vincennes, Ind., July 24.—Joe Burton and A. C. Carnahan indulged in a shooting scrape and as a result Burton carries a broken arm and Carnahan is wounded in the right leg. They are now in jail. The trouble was over Carnahan's wife.

Charles L. Nesbit and wife to Walter M. Pearce and Florence E. Pearce, part of lot 6 in L. Sexton's heirs first addition to Rushville, $3750.

Slot Machines Out of Business.

Goshen, Ind., July 24.—Four slot machines, which were confiscated on a raid made by authorities were pounded into scrap iron with a sledge hammer by Sheriff Manning.

CONTAGION SCOUTED

Mexico Does Not Quarantine Against Yellow Fever.

Mexico City, July 24.—The health authorities here say there will be no quarantine against New Orleans should it turn out that yellow fever exists in that city. The sanitary inspection of arriving passengers from infected ports is strict and suspected cases are isolated. Merchandise from ports where yellow fever exists is not detained. The theory on which the Mexican sanitary authorities deal with yellow fever is that it is only communicated by a species of mosquito, thus the impracticability of quarantine precautions.

Kills Bride and Himself.

Philadelphia, July 24.—William Holroyd, aged twenty-five years, shot and killed his wife Lillian, aged seventeen, Sunday and then committed suicide by sending a bullet into his heart.

The youthful couple were married a year ago and the tragedy was the result of frequent quarrels during the last three weeks.

Daniel Scott Lamont was born at Cortlandville, N. Y., Feb. 9, 1851. He began life in journalism and from 1885 to 1889 was private secretary to President Cleveland, by whom he was appointed secretary of war March 6, 1893. Mr. Lamont was vice president of the Northern Pacific railway and director and trustee in many railroad and financial corporations. He leaves a widow and two daughters.

Condition of General Carnahan.

Indianapolis, July 24.—General Jas. R. Carnahan, commander-in-chief of the Uniform Rank Knights of Pythias, who has been very ill for some time at his home here, is said to be improving slowly and hope is now entertained for his recovery. He has been confined to his home most of the time for two months, but his associates hope that he will soon be able to take his place in their midst.

The Jury's Verdict.

Roanoke, Va., July 24.—After a joint trial lasting one week the jury in the case of Dr. A. R. Hoback and his son, Fred Hoback charged with the murder last winter of John R. Jett at Floyd, Va., has returned a verdict acquitting the elder Hoback and finding Fred Hoback guilty of manslaughter, fixing his punishment at eight years in the penitentiary.

Marking the Boots.

A great many people on staying at an English hotel for the first time wonder what it is that "boots" can return to the different rooms the footgear placed outside the bedroom doors to be cleaned. This is quite a simple matter. All he does is to take a piece of chalk, mark upon the sole of the boot the number of the room from which he takes them and then sends them downstairs all together to be cleaned. When this has been done they are sorted, taken upstairs again and deposited outside their respective doors without the occupants of the different rooms knowing that they have been removed.

Looking Into It.

Washington, July 24.—The grand jury of the District of Columbia today took up the allegations that there has been jugglery in the cotton crop statistical reports of the department of agriculture, with a view to possible indictment or indictments.

DYNAMITERS FOILED

Fuses Were Defective and South Bend Escaped Disaster.

South Bend, Ind., July 24.—An attempt was made to blow up the Owl saloon and pool rooms in the central portion of the business district. Two sticks of dynamite were touched off on the stairway leading to the pool-rooms, and a third cartridge was found later, the fuse of both dynamite sticks having burned down to the caps, which investigation shows were defective. The attempt was made at an early hour, when few were in the place, and the dynamite was found by a scrub woman. A suspicious looking man was seen about the place, but the police believe some heavy loser at gambling made the attempt to destroy the place.

Brown County's Hopes Raised.

Nashville, Ind., July 24.—The farmers west of Nashville are again elated over the prospect that there is gold in that part of Brown county. The enthusiasm was started again when Mrs. Ira Campbell, wife of John E. Campbell, found two nuggets in the gizzard of a chicken. The nuggets, though small, are of exceptionally fine quality and are worth about $2. The Campbell farm is two and three-quarter miles west of Nashville.

Interesting Fossil in Vigo.

Terre Haute, Ind., July 24.—A track layer brought to this city part of a petrified prehistoric animal resembling a lizard. The head and tail were found intact, and reckoning from these the animal's length was not less than sixteen feet. The fossil is attracting much attention here, and according to a faculty member of the normal, the find is one of the most important in recent years.

Father May Not Survive Shock.

Laporte, Ind., July 24.—Revised reports from the Bennington disaster show that among the dead is W. M. Ficheweller. The father of the dead sailor is suffering from paralysis and the shock of the news of the death of his son may prove serious. The boy, who had nearly finished his first enlistment, was popular among Laporte people.

He Had Been Drinking.

Brazil, Ind., July 24.—Charging a bartender with stealing his wheel, A. Miller shattered the windows of Sam Tribble's saloon with a revolver. The men in the saloon dropped behind the bar and escaped injury. There were no arrests. Miller had been drinking.

Both Wounded and in Jail.

Vincennes, Ind., July 24.—Joe Burton and A. C. Carnahan indulged in a shooting scrape and as a result Burton carries a broken arm and Carnahan is wounded in the right leg. They are now in jail. The trouble was over Carnahan's wife.

Charles L. Nesbit and wife to Walter M. Pearce and Florence E. Pearce, part of lot 6 in L. Sexton's heirs first addition to Rushville, $3750.

What Makes Collars Crack?

The cracking of the seam of double fold and wing point collars is caused by the collar being folded when the seam is not evenly dampened.

We have a machine to dampen these seams that does it just exactly right—it's built so it can't do any other way—and the girl who operates it isn't careless, either.
